

CHANDIGARH UNIVERSITY

Discover. Learn. Empower.

PROJECT

DESKTOP PUBLISHING

Submitted by -

Name – Aashika Singh

UID – 23BCA10222

Section – 23BCA 2 – A

Submitted to –

Name – Jasleen Kaur

Designation – Assistant Prof.

Process

Step 1: Setting Up the Workspace

1. Open Adobe Photoshop and create a new document with the desired dimensions (e.g., 1920x1080 pixels for HD resolution).
2. Import or paste the background image (a school hallway) into the document.

Step 2: Adding the Character

1. Find or create an illustration of a character with headphones, resembling the one in the uploaded image.
2. Import the character illustration into your Photoshop project as a new layer.
3. Position the character in the bottom-left corner.

Step 3: Adding the Text Elements

1. Use the Text Tool (T) to create text boxes.
2. In the first text box, write the narrative text about Sophia:
 - "There was a girl named Sophia who didn't want to socialize much. In a room full of people, she'd be in the corner with her headphones on, completely lost in her music...."
3. In the second text box, add the inner thought:

- "World is too noisy and chaotic... I only find peace, calm, and clarity in music."
- Emphasize "I just love music" in red or another standout color.

Step 4: Designing the Heartbeat and Headphones Graphic

1. Use the Pen Tool (P) to draw the heartbeat line.
2. Create or import a headphone graphic and position it around a heart symbol.
3. Use Layer Styles (such as Stroke, Glow) to make the graphic pop.

Step 5: Styling and Composition

1. Adjust the opacity of background layers to focus attention on the character and text.
2. Add a subtle vignette or gradient to enhance the mood.
3. Use Blending Modes to integrate all elements cohesively.
4. Ensure the text is legible by tweaking font size, color, and contrast against the background.

Step 6: Final Touches

1. Add any additional effects or filters as needed to achieve the desired artistic feel.
2. Save the project in both PSD format (for future edits) and export as a high-quality JPEG or PNG.

There was a girl name Sophia who didn't want to socialize much. In a room full of people, she'd be in the corner with her headphones on Comapletely lost in her music....

World is too noisy and chaotic...
i only find peace calm and clarity in music.

"I just love music"

Story: -

“The Faded World”

In the bustling corridors of Greenwood High, where the chatter of students echoed endlessly, there was a girl named Sophia. Unlike her peers, she found solace in the rhythm of her own world—a world painted with melodies and lyrics. Sophia wasn't one to mingle in the noisy chaos of lunch breaks or after-school hangouts. Instead, she'd retreat to a quiet corner, her headphones firmly in place, drowning out the cacophony of life around her.

Her music wasn't just sound; it was her sanctuary. Each note was a brushstroke on the canvas of her mind, painting vivid landscapes where she could wander freely. While others saw her as aloof, she was simply lost in the symphony of her heart. To Sophia, music was more than a pastime; it was her language, her escape, and her comfort.

One afternoon, during a particularly noisy school event, she slipped into the hallway unnoticed. Leaning against the lockers, she closed her eyes and let the music take over. The world melted away, replaced by a serene stillness. The thump of the bass synchronized with her heartbeat, and the lyrics whispered truths she could never speak aloud.

"The world is too noisy and chaotic," she thought, "but here, in this moment, I find peace."

In the solitude of that hallway, Sophia found a piece of herself that no one else could touch. For her, music wasn't just a hobby—it was her haven, her constant, and her love. And as she stood there, completely absorbed, she knew one thing for sure:

"I just love music," she whispered, a gentle smile gracing her lips.

And in that love, she was never truly alone.